WORK AS A NURSE IN GERMANY

Why Germany

The German government has announced 13,000 more jobs for hospitals and care homes, but there is still a shortage of qualified medical staff. Germany faces a massive lack of medical care personnel, Which means many hospitals are overburdened. Currently, roughly 1 million people work in the country's nursing industry.

- It is projected that 3 million Nurses will be needed by 2060, given Germany's aging population. In late 2015, there were 2.9 million individuals in need of care-by 2030, this figure is expected to rise to 4.1 million.
- Currently, an open nursing position remains unfilled for an average of 171 days, the worst average among all professions.
- The number of people requiring old-age care continues to rise in a trend that is expected to last until 2060.
- The share of Geriatric Nurses from abroad has likewise been rising for years and is currently at 11 percent.

Advantage of working in Germany.

Good salary: 2200 - 3100 plus Overtime, Night shifts and Sundays paid extra. Salary for nurses with full license +B2 = 2900 - 3100 Salary for Nurses with full license +B1 = 2200 .

- Germany is one of the safest countries to live and settle.
- Permanent settlement is possible in few years.
- Family (Husband or wife) can be invited through family reunion visa. Husband or wife can also work in dependent visa.
- Germany has one of the advanced health insurance scheme, it protects you and your family 100%.
- Children's entire education is free in Germany.
